

Health Area Focuses of the Month

January 2025

FOOD INSECURITY

Objective: To alleviate food insecurity among residents of Durham and the surrounding areas.

The 2021 Behavioral Risk Factor Surveillance Survey revealed that only 10% of residents in Region Five of North Carolina, which includes Durham County, consumed fruits, vegetables, or beans at least five times a day. Children are particularly affected by food insecurity, with 1 in 6 going hungry on a daily basis in NC. BIPOC communities face these issues particularly acutely; prior to the pandemic, 1 in 4 Latino residents and 1 in 6 Black residents reported skipping meals or reducing their food intake due to financial constraints. The pandemic has further intensified these disparities. Limited access to nutritious foods adversely affects health; racial disparities in type two diabetes mirror those disparities prevalent in food insecurity in Durham county.
